Filley, Realizing That the People Demand Decent Candidates, for Once Supports a Reputable Man.

There is a well-defined impression abroad in political circles that Col. Ed Butler and Uncle Filley are quietly work-ing for the nomination of Charles Nagel for Governor.

No one supposes for a single moment that either Butler or Filley have any liking for Mr. Nagel, but with the shrewdness characteristic of political bosses they have analyzed the temper of the people and realize that they must select good men if they wish to win. In other words they would advantage of the temper of the people.

The man who is most interested and who seems not to have been consulted by the bosses is Mr. Nagel. He is not inclined to take the talk of his candidacy seriously and believes that it is merely a flurry that will quiet down.

"I do not think," he said Thursday, "that there is anything serious in this talk about nominating me for Governor. No one has consulted me about it, with the exception of a number of newspaper men, who have come to me, and with whom I have discussed the matter freely. I have not been out in the State, and I know very few politicians outside of Sh. Louis. The whole thing I regard as a mere diversion, which will subside in a short time, and will/cut no figure in the real fight.

"I am convinced that I am not regarded with any great degree of seriousness, because of the fact that the talk about me has not avoused any spirit of opposition. If the talk of my friends were regarded as indicating that I were at all formidable some one would be out fighting me.

Gov. Stone's Connection With the Mention of the Iowan's Name.

NO FRICTION WITH BLAND

Efforts to Create Strife Among Democratic Free Coinage Leaders in Missouri Will Fail.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Feb. 27.—The Post-Dispatch correspondent Laterviewed
Gov. Stone this morning concerning the article in to-day's Republic referring to exGov. Boles of Iowa, Mr. Bland and himself. He said:

most a daily habit of the Republic now to rail at me in some way, directly or by indnuation. I am not willing, however, to annoy the public with personal quarrels, and will not if I can avoid it. I prefer to leave that field to be cultivated by those who are constantly preaching 'harmony.' I am not fighting men. I fight for those things I be-lieve to be right and for the best. "The Republic doubtless thinks that it is very adroit, but it will find that it labors in vain in its apparent purpose to create fric-tion between Mr. Bland and myself. That scheme has-been tried before and failed and it will fail again. Bland and I are both personal and political friends. He knows that, so far as I am concerned, if he desires the Presidential nomination, I am his friend. I presume I know as much of Mr. Bland's feeling on the questions involved in Bland's feeling on the questions involved in the pending struggle as does the Republic. There is not in or out of Missouri a purer and more faithful and devoted public man than he.

"I believe ex-Gov. Boles stands in the same class so far as these qualities go. My entire connection with the mention of exentire connection with the mention of ex-Gov. Boies' name in relation to the Presi-dency appears on the surface; there is noth-ing concealed. Mr. Sam B. Cook of Mexico, wholly without my knowledge, printed an editorial in his paper favorable to Gov. Boles as the Democratic candidate. Mr. Cook then wrote to me and, as he says, to other Democrats in the State, asking us what we thought of his suggestion. My letter to him was written in reply. He de-sired to publish it, and I told him he could do as he pleased. That is the whole of it.

"In that letter I simply expressed my opinion of Gov. Boles as a Presidential possibility, and stated in substance that if there was no candidate from Missouri, and I knew of none, that I was inclined to look with great favor upon Boles. Except with one or two persons with whom I conversed casually in St. Louis, I had never spoken or written andidacy of ex-Gov. Boles until I wrote the letter to Mr. Cook. That is all I care to say, and that is really more than the importance of the Republic's article demands.

WENT WILLINGLY TO DEATH. Suicide of a Telegraph Operator After Arranging His Own Funeral

BOSTON, Feb. 27.-William H. Pearson known as one of the youngest expert belograph operators in the West, held a long conversation with Manager Stonier of the Hyde Park Morgue, in which he practically made all arrangements for having his body em-balmed, told him he was going to commit suicide, then went to the home of his cousin, Bark Morgue, in which he practically made all arrangements for having his body embalmed, told him he was going to commit suicide, then went to the home of his cousin, and locking all the doors, adjusted a gas tube to a burner, turned on the gas, swallowed five grains of morphine, lay down lowed five grains of morphine, lay down on his bed and putting the other end of the tube in his mouth, quickly ended his life. He coolly informed Mr. Stonier he had been dead his life. He coolly informed Mr. Stonier he had been dead his life. He coolly informed Mr. Stonier telephoned to the police station, giving a description of the man, but it was found or investigation he had given a wrong address and all efforts to find him and prevent the deed were unavailing.

The startlingly sudden death of his wife last November is assigned as the cause. She had been on a visit to her Ohio home and Mr. Pearson had gone to the depot 20 meet her on her return. Instead, he received a telegram saying she had died on the train from a sudden attack of pneumonia. Since that event he had been despondent and many times said there was no use living.

The deed was committed at the home of his cousin, Mrs. James Bell, No. 4717 Evans avenue, and was planned and carried out with the utmost care and deliberation. A search of the body revealed a rasor in the first bear with all solid reconvention. A search of the body revealed a rasor in the offer he was dead.

Pearson's father is a wealthy retired farmer, who lives in Auburndale, near Toledo, O. He is 75 years old. Mrs. Bell received a telegram yesterday stating his condition was serious and his life despaired of.

"Thanks," was Harper's reply as walked away.

Then he began to think. Who was there to whom he could send a message that he was safe. He couldn't think of a single soul. He saw other men telegraphing away to wives and children, but he couldn't think of any one but the boys and he knew they would give him the laugh if he sent back word that he was safe.

PROMINENT MEN TO TESTIFY

Chief Harrigan Asks for Summonses Against Mmes. Barnes, Algen, Haines, Gleason and Taylor.

Some well-known men about town will be given an opportunity to tell under eath what they know about the game of paker in general and the game in particular as played in swell West End resorts under the patronage of lovely women, patronage of lovely women.

They are the gentlemen who have been parting with their shekels with great regularity and good nature at the "top and bottom deal" seances of Mrs. Florence Barnes, Mrs. Algea and the other pleasurable beauties who had a rake-off merely for the turkey lunch and liquid refreshments at their establishments on Olive street and Vandeventer and Spring avenues. If these gentlemen do not figure in Judge Peabody's Police Court within the next ten days as experts on the great American game it will be because the City Marshal's minions cannot find them.

This announcement will cause great consternation among a number of bloods, as many of the habitues are men of affairs to whom it will prove inconvenient to leave town for a sufficient period to avoid appearing in court against the lovely ladies.

Besides, some of them have been such Besides, some of them have been such assiduous contributors to the "rake-off" that the trip might be inconvenient for an-

that the trip might be inconvenient for another reason.

As soon as Chief Harrigan had secured from ex-Detective George Granberry the names of the players in the games and then suspended him for knowing who they were, he made out a list of witnesses against the women who had defied his authority.

These names and those of the proposed defendants could have been filed in the office of Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Johnson and warrants secured for keeping common gaming houses. But this would have necessitated strying the cases before Judge David Murphy; and considering the antipathy that eminent juriest entertains toward the police department it was thought beat to have the matter referred to the First District Police Court. Another reason for this was that the cases would be more expeditiously disposed of.

So the list was sent to Assistant City Af-rney Egger and he turned it over to City torney Clover. Here is the shape in aich the names reached Mr. Eggers: Mrs. Florence Barnes, 3856 Olive street.

Witnesses: Ex-Officer George Granberry. Prof. Robert Nelson, 2625 Washington ave-

Dr. Will I. Campbell, 608 Olive street.
Joy Glydden, 913 Pine street.
Alfred Sheldon, 107 North Elighth street,

Beckford Mackey, 520 Olive street.
Mrs. Jack Gleason, 3838 Olive street.
The second case is that against Mrs. Jack Gleason, 3838 Olive street. The memoranda states that the witnesses are the same as against Mrs. Barnes.
The third is against Mrs. Hatnes, 5204
Vandeventer avenue, with the same comment as to witnesses.

rate from sunstroke has been excessively high. In a great many sections the crops are ruined. In Queensland, 113 in the shade is the temperature, and in many places in Australia, the thermometer reached 125 in the shade. Startling statistics are to hand of death from heat.

On one day previous to the sailing of the allowers eighty people were interred at Bydney. So great was the demand for graves that managers of cemeteries had to engage a number of assistants. Nearly all those who succumbed were infants and aged persons. In the crowded commercial centers citizens are walking the streets all night. There is a mad rush from the city to the country.

City Attorney Clover and his assistated are still conferring over the charges again the women. They have not yet decids whether to accuse them of keeping a common gaming-house, in violation of a cit ordinance, or with being merely poke players. The charge will probably be keeping a common gaming-house. As, soon a this has been settled each of the women wibe summoned to answer the charge, as the witnesses named will be subpoensed tell how they lost their money. A summon will probably be issued in each case continue this afternoon, and the subpoenserved.

NEW YORK, Feb. R.—In a fire in Brooklyn yesterday in which two children were burned to death, John Gallagher, a bedridden paralysic, nearly B years old, living on the fifth floor, rear, succeeded in dragsing himself to a window. It was fifty fest above the ground and looked into a narrow court yard inaccessible to men with ladders.

Gallagher's quivering voice was heard orying for assistance. Foreman Fitzscrald led his men to the roof by a ladder, which was set up against the front of the building.
But it seemed to be impossible to get at

He had successfully referred the diffethe and successfully performed the diffethe subject of the coping to the c ernment.

While his ideas may have seemed visionary at times he has fought the darklantern schemes of the corruptionists, and as is usual in such cases no one has questioned his motives. As it stands he is the one man connected with the present administration whose name has not been besmirched in some way.

As acting Mayor in the absence of Walbridge, Nagel has had several opportunities to demonstrate his ability. In every case he has shown that he is a man of affairs and that he has a clear and direct way of grasping all questions that present themselves. His reprimand of Jalier Wagner is still remembered, and it showed him as a man who had definite ideas of the duties of municipal officers.

Col. Butler is chiefly interested in furthering Mr. Nagel's candidacy for Governor because he has a strong desire to see some one else in the mayoralty chair. He recognizes very clearly that the President of the Council, if promoted, would be a constant sumbling block in the way of his numerous schemes. The Colonel has his contracts and his railroad interests to protect at all hazards and he wants some man at the head of municipal affairs who will be complacent and obliging. Nagel would not be the man, and if he were made Governor he would be forever out of the way.

Filley is more deeply interested. He sees that the time has come when good men must be pushed to the front if the Republican party is to win, and he hopes to cover up his schemes by using the names of such men as Nagel.

No one believes that there is any bond of sympathy between "de ole man" and Mr. Nagel. The latter has never been identified with practical politics, and by the workers he is charged with a taint of mugwumpery. Is career has shown that he has always laned to the appointment of competent then, regardless of practical service, and if lected Mayor, Filley realizes that it would edifficult to persuade him to take care of he heelers and stuffers.

Zeigenhein would be a much better man r the bosses, and as a candidate for Governor Nagel would appeal to the better element all over the State.

SHALL HE WITHDRAW?

Blackburn's Fair Answer to the Gold Standard Demograts.

ed calls of the gold standard Democrats for the withdrawal of Senator Blackburn, so as to give opportunity for another nomination, are culminating so-day in the circulation of a petition among them asking him to get off the track. The Blackburn managers have off the track. The Blackburn managers have agreed to reply to this, when it is presented, with a fair proposition to the recalcitrants. This proposition is that Blackburn will go into another caucus at which the question will be put, "Is it the desire of the Democratic members of the Legislature that Blackburn shall withdraw?"

If a majority of the caucus vote in favor of his withdrawal he will do so. But the condition of this proposition from the Blackburn men is that if a majority in that caucus is in favor of his remaining on the track the gold standard members who have heretofore refused their support shall thereafter cast their votes for him at every joint session.

and well-paved streets, the hospitals, the jails and the asylums, which are constantly pressing themselves upon us.

"They are all of the greatest interest to us and should be dealt with honestly, intelligently and vigorously.

"The trouble is that in seeking to rectify all the evils we have we are inclined to scatter too much. We agitate a question looking to some great municipal reform for a week or two, hold a mass-meeting and pass resolutions, and then we forget all about it. Instead of undertaking one thing at a time and following it till we have worked out a definite result, we do a great deal of talking and accomplish little.

"For five months we have not driven a nail in the new City Hall, and yet columns have been written and yards of oratory expended in advocating this plan and that plan when all that is needed is for those in charge to go ahead and make a showing.

"It is my interest in these matters that has made me pay attention to city affairs without a thought of seeking an offace. I am not a candidate for any office, but I will say frankly that if I were desirous of holding any place, and had my choice I would rather occupy my present position than any within the gift of the people."

Interwoven, it becomes doubly fascinating. Buch a story is "An Army Wife," by Capt. Charles King, U. S. A., which will be begun in next Sunday's Post-Dispatch.

Capt. King's war stories have always been popular with St. Louis readers. Twenty-three of them in book form are in the Mercantile Library and they are widely read. Of one of them Milss Luna Garrison, daughter of D. R. Garrison of the Mechanics Bank, is understood to figure as the heroide. It is a story of the frontier during the war with the Indians culminating in the crue massacre of Custer and his galiant men, which episode is vividiy retold. Of course there is a maiden in love with a soidler, who is engaged in righting indians, while his lady love is form by conflicting emotions, fear that he will fall a victim to a awage's tomahawk and scalping knife and pride at his bravery. rendered more pleasant by the fact that Mr. Garrison was the close friend of Gen. Sherman. Capt. King was then engaged on a book in which Gen. Sherman was a prominent figure, and as a delicate compliment to Miss Garrison the author embodied her graces of mind and person in the heroine. The young lady was not aware of the honor done her for some time after the book was published, nor until Capt. King confided the fact to a friend in Milwaukee, by which means it reached Miss Garrison and soon became well known in St. Louis society.

No one is better fitted by both heredity and personal experience than Capt. King to write such stories. His father before him was a soldier and writer. He resigned from the engineer corps to become proprietor and editor of the Milwaukee Sentinel in 1845. Capx. King himself was a conspicuous figure in the border Indian wars he so graphically describes, and carries a crippled arm as a memento of them. Capt. King romes of a most Capt. King was laid up with a shattered arm for months as a result of this action, but before the wound healed he was again in the saddle. He shared all the terrible privations of the Fifth Cavalry in the Big. Horn and Yellowstone expeditions of 157s. At the close of it the regimental commander, Wesley Merritt, rewarded him by promoting him to the adjulancy of the regiment.

King himself was a conspicuous lighte in the border Indian wars he so graphically describes, and carries a crippled arm as a mement of them. Capt. King comes of a most distinguished family. His great grandfather, Rufus King, was one of the signers of the Constitution, for many years United States at the Court of St. James. His grandfather, Senator from New York, and twice Minister at the Court of St. James. His grandfather, Edwis King, L.L. D., was president of Columbia College, His father, Rufus King, was for several years Minister resident for the Pontifical States at Rome, and during the war was a brigadier general of volunters. On his mother's side Capt. King is a direct descendant of John Eliot, the Indian apostle.

Charles King was born in Albany, N. Y.,

direct descendant of John Eliot, the Indian apostle.

Charles King was born in Albany, N. Y., in 1844. The following year his father moved to Milwaukee, where young King's boyhood days were spent and where he now makes his home. He entered Columbia College Grammar School in 1858, and had just passed his examination for the freshman class when the civil war broke out. With the military instinct inherent in the son of a soldier Charles, barely I7 years old, hastened to Washington and showed up at the camp of the Wisconsin volunteers. He had been marker of the 1st Regiment, Wisconsin Milita, and a drummer in the Light Guard before he left Milwaukee, and he was put to work teaching the other drummer boys to handle their sticks. When the Wisconsin brigade, in command of his father, was formed Charles was made mounted orderly at brigade headquarters. He saw his first real soldiering in Virginia, and it was his good fortune to be the guide of Gen. Winfield Scott Hancock when he first crossed the Potomac. But Charles did not see a great deal of active service at this time. The young soldier had attracted attention and President Llucoln personally promised him a cadetship at West Point. As a cadet he rose rapidly. The first year he was made Cadet Cornoral in 1864 he was to enter West Point.

As a cadet he rose rapidly. The first year he was made Cadet Corporal; in 1864 he was made Cadet Corporal; in 1864 he was made Cadet First Sergeant, and in 1865 he became a Cadet Adjutant, thus achieving the highest honors obtainable by a cadet, when, it must be remembered, such promotions were made wholly on the score of merit. As a boy he was popular. His good fortune did not excite his vanity, and he was as well liked by the lower classmen as by his brother officers. He was a dashing young fellow, too. It was said of him that he was one of those men whose clothes always fit, and who after exercise or work always manage to preserve a neat appearance. Of course, he was a favorite with the ladies, too.

United States. Lisut. King, on returning from a tour of inspection in Mississippi heard of the unaccepted challenge open to the United States. With Gen. Emory's permission, he accepted it. It was a great race and King won by two lengths. The trophy, a gold-mounted whip, he carried directly and laid it in the lap of a young lady who had accompanied Gen, and Mrs. Emory. He married that lady soon afterward and she still owns that trophy.

During the honsymoon the New Orleans riots of the winter of 1872-73 broke out, and he had his share of work. He was complimented by Gen. Emory for coolness and gallantry. In the spring of 1874 by his own request he was relieved from staff duty to enable him to join his troop, which had been seeing some active service on the frontier. In the Apache war in Arisons, 1874 to 1876, the 5th Cavalry, with King in command of his troop, was conspicuous above all the others. Gen. Sherman publicly stated he esteemed their services "unequated by any cavalry regimaged during our late he others. Gen. Grook singled out the gallant 5th for especial praise.

In an engagement at Diamond Butte May 28, 1874, King's gallantry was such that President Grant sent his name to the Senate with the recommendation that he be given a brevet commission as Captain. On Nov. 1, 1874, at Sunset Pass he was dangresously wounded, and must have fallen into the hands of the savages but for the herosism of Sergt. Bernard Taylor, who, though ordered to retreat, refused to obey civil war," and Gen. Grook singled out the gallant 5th for especial praise.

On Nov. 1, 1874, at Sunset Pass he was dangerously wounded, and must have fallen into the hands of the savages but for the heroism of Sergt. Bernard Taylor, who, though ordered to retreat, refused to obey orders, and with his men held the howling Apaches in check until reinforcements arrived. It is characteristic of Capt. Kins that although desperately wounded, his first act on reaching Camp Verde was to dictate an official report of the action, praising the "superb courage" of Sergt. Taylor, and making honorable mention of others. Taylor was awarded a medal of honor by Congress. The daring deed of Taylor is recorded by Capt. King in "The Worst Man in the Troop."

Sam T. Rathell Gives His Opinion of the School Board.

DENOUNCED HEQUEMBOURG.

A Beal Estate Man Gets Disgusted and Rebukes the School Directors in Open Meeting.

There came near being a fight at the close of the meeting of the School Board Wednesday night.

Sam T. Rathell, the real estate man.

read the riot act to the members of the board, and declared there were half a en of them who were a disgrace to city, to the board and to themselves.

the city, to the board and to themselves. And finally as he passed through the door leading into the hall Rathell bumped against Director Hequembourg, who claims to be a very positive man, and shaking his fist in Hequembourg's face reiterated his charges and said that he stood personally responsible for what he said. Hequembourg didn't want any of Rathell's war medicine. He waited until Rathell's voice began to die away in the descending elevator, and then remarked facetiously to President Brockman that he guessed "Rathell is mad because he didn't get that $2,000."

President Brockman that he guessed "Rathell is mad because he didn't get that $3,000."

Mr. Rathell had gone to the meeting as one of a delegation of citizens to protest against the lavish expenditure of money for new schools, some of which are not needed, while the western part of the city is sadly in need of several new schools and additional room in the old ones. He was incensed at the meaningless talk of several directors, who consumed a great deal of time without saying anything. Mr. Rathell was not given an opportunity to speak during the meeting, so he let go in this fashion as soon as the meeting adjourned:

"Some of the members of this board are a disgrace to the city. You have acted shamefully at this meeting to-night and ninevents of the people would appland you if you jumped off the Mississippi River bridge.

"I am talking loud enough for all of you to hear me and you dare not contradict me. You are a disgrace to yourselves, to the citizens, to me and to everybody who hears me. I wouldn't be a member of this board for $10,000 a year. I am ashamed for you. This is the kind of cattle we send to represent us in the School Board. No, I would not be one of you for $25,000 a year."

Mr. Rathell emphasized every fourth or fifth word he said by pounding the top of the desk in front of him and each blow threatened to shatter it. President Brockman, after stepping from the chair, asked Rathell what Directors he referred to.

"You know who I mean. You're all right:

"You know who I mean. You're all right; your decisions were fair and square. I am talking about the clique that has been trying to run this meeting to-night, and finally succeeded in adjourning this meeting without transacting the business before the board."

The remarks of the excited speaker were getting uncomfortably close to Hequembourg and he got curious enough to ask:
"Why don't you come out and say what you mean? Why are you not more definite?"
"I don't know you, sir; never saw you be-nite?"

"I don't know you, sir; never saw you before, but if you'll step out here I'll show you right quick who I mean."
Everybody made a rush for the door, expecting a fight. Rathell shook his finger in Hequembourg's face, but the latter was not inclined to resent either his actions or his words, and Rathell continued to fire red-hot accusations at him.

Hequembourg's face, but the latter was not inclined to resent either his actions or his words, and Rathell continued to fire red-hot accusations at him.

"Every word I said to you, sir, and every word I said in that room I mean."

"Why don't you be more explicit?"

"See here, sir," and Rathell shook his fist under Hequembourg's nose in the most emphatic manner, "I don't believe you're in a condition to understand what I say. What I said in there I meant for you, and you in particular. You're a disgrace to Shis board and you ought not to have been allowed in the meeting. You above all others are the one who ought to jump off the bridge."

"Well, — If I don't believe I'll go and 'o it," said Hequembourg excitedly.

"That's right. You'll do the public a service." retorted Rathell. "I've seen so much in the newspapers about your disgraceful conduct that I came down to see if it were true. Such an outrageous outpour of senseless babble and such disgraceful actions as characterized this meeting I never witnessed before in all my life. Why, down in Old Mexico, where the natives cannot read and write, the peons are treated better than you handle the citizens of St. Louis. For example, I am a resident of the Dosier School district. We are taxed out there on the valuation of $90 a foot for property, and you men give our children school accommodations as if we were paying taxes on property worth only $5 a foot. I repeat half of you men would earn the applause of all $5t. Louis if you would drop off the bridge."

An effort was made to separate the two men, and as Rathell left he said:

"You are a fine lot. Keep your word and jump off. Amen!"

"Soy, de Coroner's here; let 'em have it out," said a red-eyed little man, with a corncob pipe stuck in the side of his face. "Yer don't know h' much fun it ud be. Dere both big fellers."

All this happened after the meeting adjourned. The meeting fixelf was not with-till to 10 and the report was consequently lost.

Hequembourg moved a reconsideration, but was ruled out of order, and two or three points of order he raised did not go. Finally a move to refer the report back to the committee was carried.

Two attempts to adjourn failed after a vote had been taken and then came the report of the Building Committee, which it would have been useless to pass in view of the disposition of the Ways and Means report. By a vote of 8 to 12 a motion to suspend the rules and pass it was lost.

A motion to table it for thirty days shared a similar fate and a motion to refer it back to the committee was lost. Then Johnnie Collins moved to adjourn and Hequembourg seconded and that was lost, too. Dr. Walt made a second motion to refer it back to the committee and that carried. Then a motion to adjourn was carried.

As the directors were getting their hats and coats Mr. Ratheil delivered his denunciation discourse.

MORGAN DIVORCE CASE

The Husband Got His Decree and Custody of the Child.

The Morgan divorce case was quickly dis on his cross-bill. He was also awarded the custody of the child, Gladys.

Kitty Henshaw and Louise Nicholson went on the stand and tetstified that "Molly" Morgan frequented assignation houses and ran an immoral resort. Morgan testified he treated his wife well until she developed a preference for the society of other men. Dr. L. E. Newman gave some testimony in an undertone that seemed to help Morgan along some.

Besides the two women mentioned several others of that lik were present, but were not called upon to testify, as Judge Dillon said that he did not desire it. The trial was void of sensational details.

Pope Photograph Case Ended.

Pope Photograph Case Ended.

Richard C. Pope of 9il Chestnut street was fined $26 in Judge Peabody's court Wednesday afternoon on the charge of disturbing the peace. Pope is the man who employed a photographer to secure a picture of a yothg lady who should be pointed out by a third party. The photographer went to the young lady's home in the West End to secure the photograph and was met by the young lady's father, Joseph Goodbar, to whom he told what was wanted. Mr. Goodbar was indignant and caused Pope's arrest. The latter claims the photographer made a mistake and he had no intention of securing Miss Goodbar's picture. A woman who had blackmailed him was the person whose picture he wanted. Other evidence did not agree with Mr. Pope's statements.

RUN OUT OF TOWN.

Thomas Finnigan's Skull Fractured by Daniel Winter and Hudson Campbell an Irate House Owner. Threatened by Glass Workers. Abraham Bently, 1803 Carr street, was PITTSBURG, Pa., Feb. 27.-Daniel Winter, who was appointed president pro tem of the National Window Glass Workers' Walnut streets Thursday morning by Officer Kavanaugh. Blood was flowing profusely from a wound in his mouth and altogether he was in a pitiable plight.

"For God's sake," said Maher to the officer, "help me get my coat which is upstairs in that house. It has bonds worth $3,000 in it."

The house in question was a disreputable resort near Ninth and Walnut streets, conqueted by Bessia Javab. When the was homeless and had gone into the house to sleep. His wife lives posed last week, and Hudson Campbell, presiding ofneer of L. A. 300, were run out of Jeannette yesterday by a mob of more than one thousand men and boys. The officials went to Jeannette to visit the glassworkers at the Chambers-McKee factory; and as soon as they were recognized work was stopped. A crowd quickly gathered and the two men were notified to get out of town at once. They started for the station, followed by a howling mob, blow-ing horns and threatening them with summary punishment. The crowd finally became so demonstrative that Winters and Campbell took refuge in Burgess Bethune's office, from where they were escorted to the railroad station by the police, followed by a mob yelling "Burns, Burns, Burns is President" and "hang the villains!" The two men quickly boarded the train, and as it pulled out for Pittsburg the last words Campbell and Winter heard were a sure promise of death if they returned to Jeannette. posed last week, and Hudson Campbell, and said he was homeless and had one into the house to sleep. His wife lives 2328 Biddle street. THE NEW CITY HALL, Mr. Randall Gives His Views and from the shoulder Thursday morning. He is willing to take the new City Hall Building off willing to take the new City Hall Building off President McMath's hands and go ahead and complete it without undue delay or unnecessary expense.

Building Commissioner Randall talked

"The people of St. Louis are getting tired of this dilatoriness in the City Hall matter," he said to a Post-Dispatch reporter. "By right of his office the Building Commissioner should have had the supervision and superintendence of the erection of the new City Hall from the beginning. This office makes the plans and supervises the erection of all fire engine houses, hospitals and all public buildings whatsoever.

"That McMath should have been swetting and fuming and wrestling over the construction of the City Hall seems to me an anomaly when the fitness of departmental duties is considered. The whole matter has been in confusion from a legal point of view ever since the foundation piling was driven. The new City Hall has been built upon a tissue of illegalities. Now, when the structure is nearly completed, all parties should give way in the interest of public policy and common sense, and allow the building to be completed as soon as possible. If they will put me in charge and give me the proper facilities, I will undertake to have the structure completed and ready for occupancy inside of nine months. Mr. MoMath admitted before the investigating committee his unitness, both physical and professional, for superintending the work properly. Under his management, judging the present and future by the past, I don't think he will have the new City Hall entirely completed for the next two years."

INFAMY WILL PURSUE HIS NAME.

Senator Teller did not exceed the limits of justifiable denunciation when he told nator Sherman that infamy will pursue his name after he is in his grave for the part he has played in the conspiracy to find the American people in the chains of mancial slavery.

The effect of the work that Senator nerman has accomplished, and that he is now trying to complete with the aid of the Cleveland Administration, is not yet fully realized by the people of the United States. It means the ruin of millions and their condemnation to hopeless poverty and toll for the benefit of a few men whose combined resources enable them to control the gold market.

When the record of the monetary legislation of the last thirty years in the recognize and proclaim the infamy of Senator Sherman, who conceived and directed the plot for their destruction.

This is a fair illustration of the House' disgraceful methods of transacting public business.

A BIT OF HISTORY.

In 1892 the State Convention which elected Missour's delegates to the Demo-cratic National Convention of that year met at Sedalia on May 12. In addition to the regular platform declaration of principles, that convention adopted the following resolution of instructions: Believing that Grover Cleveland is every-where associated in the popular mind with this great reform and this paramount issue, we favor his homination at Chicago, and the delegates to be selected by this convention are hereby requested to use all honorable means to secure his nomination. The dele-sation to the Chicago Convention shall vote as a unit on all questions, the vote of a najority of the delegates determining what the vote of the delegation shall be.

No fault can be found with this resulttion on the score of lack of explicitnes It requested the delegates to use all rable means to secure the nomin tion of Grover Cleveland, and it instructed them to vote as a unit on all ques tions, the vote of the majority of the delegates determining what the vote of the delegation should be.

In spite of these definite instructions when the delegation assembled at Chica-go the binding force of these instructions was sharply challenged. At the meeting of the delegation before going into the National Convention, the fact developed that a number of the delegates refused to accept the State Convention's instructions as binding. The same argument that is now being urged in Missouri by the gold standard men was district delegates were elected by the several districts and represented the districts; and, therefore, that the State Convention could not bind these district delegates by instructions. It was argued with much emphasis that while the delegates-at-large could be "instructed" by the State Convention which elected them, the district delegates were free to act upon their own view of the wishes of their constituents in the districts.

After a prolonged discussion in which much heat was manifested, the follow-ing resolution was adopted by a vote of

Would it designate man who interprets a pledge to restore bimetallism as an obligation to establish a gold monometallic standard Democrat? Would it regard any man or set of men who insist upon substituting for the double-standard hard money of the Constitution and non-interest bearing government notes redeemable coln, corporation credit money based upon interest-bearing bonds and an expensive stock of gold, as worthy of the name of Democrats? Would it class with Democrats men who let illegal trusts flourish and fill the coffers of finan clers and speculators with the money of

A St. Louis court recently decided that criticism of a public officer on the part of newspaper was a public duty. In an action for criminal fibel brought by William Brockman, the President of the School Board, against the city editor of a newspaper, the special Judge called to try the case dismissed it on the ground that crit-icism of a public officer in a newspaper was privileged and that no action would lie unless malice was shown. This is sound law and substantial justice. Such decisions establish what is meant by freedom of the press, and the freedom of the press is even of greater value to the public than it is to the newspapers.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

(The Post-Dispatch does not hold Staelf res ble for any opinions or statement of facts in letters. It is a free parliament.) Opposed to Majority Rule. To the Editor of The Post-Dispatch.

In republics it has heretofore, been held that "the will of the majority" should be tha supreme law. But the gold standard men—recognizing the fact that a majority of the people, on a square issue, would vote for the free coinage of silver, and, if thwarted by the machine in a Presidential memiating convention, might still elect enough ting convention, might still elect enough Congressmen to pass a free coinage law-declare it their purpose to nominate a President who will veto any such legislation. In other words, he must override the popular will. The Globe-Democratic declares that for the coming St. Louis convention to remain silent on the silver question, and simply resolve for the sake of harmony that its nomines shall carry out the wishes of the people as expressed through Congress, would be a "crime." So, it has come to this, that the gold standard conspirators are willing to sacrifice the fundamental principles of republican government in order to sustain a gold bug oligarchy.

"The Kid" Died With a Scoff and Smile After Giving His Name as Elmer Lewis of Neosho, Mo.

Theatrical Managers Will Fight the WICHITA FALLS, Tex., Feb. 27.-As foreshadowed in last evening's Post pis-patch, a speedy death was meted out to Foster Crawford and the "Kid," the outlaws who robbed the City National Bank Tuesday afternoon and killed Cashier Dorman & Co. Soon after the Rangers retired the funeral of the murdered Dorsey passed through the streets and the word went from mouth to mouth that the alarm would be given at 9 o'clock.

At the appointed hour the fire-bell rang and people rushed from every nook and corner to the jail. District Judge Miller, Attorney R. E. Huff and District Attorney Carter were waiting for them. He told them that if the men were guilty they would be hung, and that the next term of court was near at hand.

A voice from the crowd said: "Think of the blood of poor Dorsey."

Miller replied: "If poor Dorsey could speak to-night, he would join with me in asking you not to commit this great wrong."

Another voice rang out: "Think of the poor widow."

Cries from the crowd, such as "Choke him off," "Let's go and take them," followed but the crowd hesitated. They lacked organization, and needed a leader.

R. E. Huff appealed to the people to allow the law to take its course. The crowd again wavered, but large numbers from the country inspired fresh course, and the jall was finally surrounded. Deputy Sherif Hardetty said he didn't want to hurt anyone and didn't want anybody to hurt him, but he expected to do his duty. The crowd went to the Cky National Bank corner and kludled a bondire of a few dry goods boxes. "The Kid" was first placed on a platform made of two boxes, one side of the telephone pole, and a rope was fastened about his neck.

He was asked if he wished to pray. He replied: "Pray! Who in the — wants to pray?"!

Some one asked him his name and he said it was Elmer Lewis, and he was from Neosho, Mo. When asked if his father and mother were living he said they were, and that his father's name was James H. Lewis. He was asked if he had any word to send them, and said: "Only tell them that I died like a man."

He admitted being in the bank robbery Tuesday, but said he didn't get anything, and denied having killed Frank Dorsey. He told the crowd he had $16,000 burled in the Arbuckle Mountains, in the Indian Territory, forty miles from here, and if they hunted for it they would find it. When the rope was slipped over his neck he smiled, but said it fitted well, and, while tlooked hard, it was the way of the world. Is smiled again and told them to pull him p. Foster Crawford was then placed on a platform on the other side of the telephone pole. He struggled and swore and started to make a speech, but he weakened and began to cry. He imbibed fresh nerve from a glass of whisky.

He said his name was John Foster, but he had been known as Foster Crawford for the past five years. He was a native of McLennan County, Texas, but had "operated" in the Indian Territory and Montana, as well as in Texas. His father and mother were still living near Waco. Mrs. McDiarmid alleges that her husband struck her and called her harsh and cruel names. Her chief cause of complaint, however, she says, was the abuse he heaped upon her religion from time to time. She is a devoted Catholic and his coarse and vulgar tirades against her religion were more than she could bear. She alleges that her husband would lock her in a room and compel her to listen to his abuse of her religion. After standing this sort of thing a month and a half she alleges she was compelled to return to St. Louis and resume her home with her mother, where she has since continued to live.

Prof. Isbell's Banjo Concert.

Prof. Isbell's Banjo Concert.

Pickwick Theater was comfortably filled Wednesday evening, the occasion being Prof. Isbell's fifth annual banjo, mandolin and guitar concert. The programme was carefully arranged and presented in a notably enjoyable manner. Prof. Isbell's banjo playing was a revelation to those whose knowledge of that instrument was limited to the thrumming of tyros. He has an apt pupil in Master Douglass Skinner, who gave an exhibition of finger work that was remarkable. Another, promising young musician who participated in last night's entertainment is Master Carl Steinkuehler. He is a violinist of considerable promise.

To a Post-Dispatch reporter Joseph T. Donovan said: "I know nothing of the whereabouts of young Tatum. We have made a careful examination of his accounts since he left and find everything correct to a cent. He has no opportunity to be dishonest, had he been so inclined, as we have always kept close waich of the accounts of our collectors. He has always been steady and never missed a day from his work."

State Senator Tatum, the father of the missing young man, said: "I know exactly where my son is. He left the city Saturday night on a private matter and I consider that under the circumstances his whereabouts is of no particular interest to the public."

It is rumored that young Tatum's absence from the city is in the nature of an elopement. He is known to have been in correspondence for some time with a young lady in a town west of St. Louis, and some of his friends believe that when he returns to the city he will bring a wife with him. His father denies this.

ABOUT TOWN. WOODEN INDIAN ROW.—Because of a fight over a wooden Indian James O'Brien was sent to the City Hospital and Fred Gabriel and Henry Block were locked up Wednesday sight. O'Brien and Gabriel started to enter Block's saloon at Broadway and Walnut street, but the Indian was in the road. The cigar sign was knocked over and its nose broken. Block came out and remond.

DHED AT THE HOSPITAL.—Henry Williams died at the City Hospital Wednesday night. He and his wife were arrested Jan. 21 on the charge of having broken into the store of Stotz & Son, 607 Morgan street. Williams was confined in the jail only a few days when he was taken sick and sent to the hospital.

CAUGHT IN CHICAGO.—At the request of St. Louis police Geateno Norchise was arrested in Chicago Wednesday. He was wanted for cutting Lawrence J. Manning in a flat of Mullanphy street last November. Norchise said he stabbed Manning while the latter was stabbling his wife.

ABUSE OF THE MAILS.—Geo. G. Utt was held in a $400 bond by United States Commissioner Gray Wednesday for sending an obscene letter through the mails. The letter he wrote was addressed to Mrs. L. Grigsby of 911 North Eighteenth street, and concerned his relations with her daughter. Utt is married.

Children's Home Society.

The office of the Children's Home Society of Missouri has been moved to room 63. Emilie Building. The nursery is still located at 1623 Olive street. This institution is in a fourishing condition and is doing a larger work than ever. At present the Home has 14 children on its rolls. They are mostly boys, and range in age from 3 to 13 years. Since has July the Home has placed 105 children in good homes. The work is not confined exclusively to St. Louis. Rev. J. M. Tennison, the Superintendent, reports that workers throughout the State are taking a great interest in the work, and are assisting largely in collecting the home-less children and fliding comfortable homes in good families for them. He Played Detective. E. C. Tieman's penchant for playing detective is the cause of his incarceration at the Second District Folice Station. Joseph Schultz and a couple of friends were drinking in a saloon at Broadway and Lafayeste avenue Wednesday night when Tieman entered. He thought he recognized in Schultz a desperate criminal and arrested him for the murder of Ignatz Goldman. Schultz knocked the self-appointed detective down and started to run and the police arrested both.

Death of a Prisoner.

Charles Cantine died at the City Hospital Wednesday night. He was arrested on the night of Feb. 22 with Della Tramberger and two other woman at 1813 Market street for the robbery of J. D. Dean, as architect from Toledo, O. Sunday while Chief Desmond was trying to get Cantine to confress the latter felj forward and struck an iron cuspidor, sustaining what was not supposed to be a serious wound. Cantine was said to have been an opium fiend.

Mr. Arkell was asked if he really believed Mr. Morton was being "jolfied." He replied:

"'Of course, he is. I have just returned from a trip through the Southern States. I visited some of the cities where Mr. Platt's missionaries for Morton had been. I found that they had done some work and apparently spent some money.

"Whose it was I do not know. Perhaps it was Platt's or Depew's, but it left no impression in favor of Morton. The work that Morton's missionaries did was not for Morton, but against McKinley; for Reed, Allison or anybody in fact, but McKinley.

"I have not hesitated to tell Gov. Morton that he is being 'jollied,' especially by Mr. Platt, who was openly for Reed a few months ago, and who is now, in my judgment, secretly for Reed, His combination with Quay and one or two other alleged State bosses is intended solely to make an arrangement finally by which the balance of power can be controlled in favor of a candidate who will put himself under bonds to do what these bosses want."

NEW X RAY LAMP.

It Is Prebable That Photographs May Be Taken Instantaneously.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Feb. 27.-F. L. Wood ward of the Lawrence Scientific School at Harvard has devised a new ray lamp by means of which excellent cathodic radio-graphs have been obtained. The lamp is con-cical in shape, with walls of sheet aluminum one-tefith of an inch in thickness. The rays pass through the aluminum readily, and with this lamp Mr. Woodward has obtained very clearly defined shadow-graphs of the hand in five seconds from an induced current of only between 25,000 and 30,000 wolts.

induced current of only between 20,000 and 30,000 volts.

The base of the lamp is of solid glass fitted into the base of the aluminum cone with plaster of Paris and made air-tight. A metallic ring passes around the base of the cone and holds the sides firmly to the glass bottom. Through a point a little at one side of the center of the glass base passes the cathode pole into the lamp, and a platinum disc is fastened to the end of it, at such an angle as to be parallel to the lamp. At the top of the lamp, and directly connected with the metallic side, is the anide pole, and at the top of the cone is a glass tube through which the air may be exhausted. The glass tube is also fastened in with plaster of Paris and bound by a metallic ring. A circular wooden disc is fastened inside the me-Paris and bound by a metallic ring. A circular wooden disc is fastened inside the metallic cone to prevent any collapse of the sides as the air is exhausted. The new ray lamp has an interest aside from its construction from the fact that experiments conducted with it appear to disprove the theory that a glass vacuum envelope plays an important part in the generation of the Roentson rays. This theory was advanced by Roentson rays. This theory was advanced by Roentson rays. This theory was advanced by Roentson inself.

The results already obtained from Mr. Woodward's lamp make it seem probable that with a high current, say of 50,000 volts, an ion that an end of the construction o

The Pyramid Pain Cure, the new, painless which has been so remarkably suc-in curing every form of piles and rectal diseases, has recently been placed on druggists, and it is safe to say that when its extraordinary merits become known, there will be no such thing as surgical operations for the cure of this obstinate

Mrs. M. C. Hinkly of 601 Mississippi St., Indianapolis, Ind., says: I had been a terrible sufferer from piles for 15 years and no remedies benefited me, until I saw an advertisement of the Pyramid Pile Cure; I got a package, also a package of Pyramid Pills. and used both according to directions. I was astonished at the immediate relief obtained and now I honestly believe the Pyramid to be the only certain cure for piles.

That you may realize how bad I was,

will say that I was confined to my bed an before the college physicians here who ald my case was a new one to them and onted seven or eight hundred dollars to ertake a cure; the great pain had brought on a rupture, and I knew an operation would be death to me on account of blood poisoning. Nearly every one here knows of my terrible suffering from piles, and I feel that I cannot praise the Pyramid Pile Cure enough, and the Pyramid Pills also. My husband will join me in highly recommending the Pyramid: my daughter was cured by one box only. For several years I weighed but about 90 pounds; now I weigh 150 and feel in perfect health.

This seems to be the universal testimony of every sufferer from piles who has ever tried the Pyramid; it is the safest, most painless pile cure yet discovered; contains no opiate, morphine, cocaine or any poison-ous ingredient whatever, has a soothing, ing effect from the first application, and moderate price places it within the reach every one needing treatment. The Pyrad Pile Cure is sold by druggists at 50 cents d $1.00 per package and the Pyramid Pilis 25 cents per box.

"What do you think of the bicycle craze for women?"
"I think it an excellent thing. And I would throw no restrictions around the sort of costume to be worn. I believe that a woman should be allowed the same freedom of Judgment and preference in matters of dress as a man. The bloomer seems to be the logical dress for the bleycle, as I believe skirts interfere with the enjoyment and make it dangerous. Those persons who cry against a woman on a bleycle on the street properly chad in bloomers, attend a theater where women are not properly chad, and it does not suggest itself to them that their womanhood is being degraded."

CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 27.—Inquiries made here seem to establish the fact that there is no truth in the story from this city, published in the Daily News of London today, that on Feb. 14, the first day of the Ramadan festival, the Turks surrounded the Armenian quarter in Marsovan, ordered the Armenians to accept Islam and killed 150 who refused to do so. Mr. Milo O. Jewett, United States Consul at Sivas, passed through Marsovan recently, and telegraphed that he was proceeding to his post, thus indicating that Marsovan is tranquil.

She Wants a Legal Separation From Her Honeymeon Husband.

Florence Lillian Wickes Ford filed a

The plaintiff in this case is the beautiful suit in the Circuit Court Thursday morning for a divorce from George Oliver Ford.

The plantiff in this case is the beautiful daughter of Thomas M. Wickes, the Chicago millionaire. The family has accumulated more than its share of notoriety during the past year or two.

First the social world was startled by Mrs. Wickes suing her wealthy husband for divorce. When the case was tried it attracted much attention, but the salacious details were eliminated by Wickes allowing the case to go by default.

The next incident that sent the name of Wickes buzzing over the wires was the elopement of Miss Florence. George Oliver Ford was the man's name and he superintended a flour mill at Beloit, Wis., for his papa. Her parents strenuously objected to Ford as a son-in-law, but Miss Florence took the bit into her teeth.

This blew over very quickly. Almost before the honeymoon was ended there came rumors of dissension and the next thing heard was that Mrs. Ford had joined her mother at her suburban residence near St. Louis, and was studying for the stage.

Her beauty, coupled with some talent, secured her an engagement with Wilson Barrett.

When the season opened in the fall she cured her an engagement with wison barrett.

When the season opened in the fall she secured a position in Gladys Wallis' company and the world heard no more of the Wickes family until young Tom took it into his head to keep in line with the family and stir up a marital sensation of his own. And he did.

He tried to clope with Miss Nana Nelson, the daughter of a Kansas City millionaire, but the scheme fell through and the young lady's brother took her home. But young Wickes was a stayer and so was his sweathart. They overcame the parental

NO CURE NO PAY. White Metal Republicans Will Follow the Lead of Carter. Effort to Induce Congress to Try a River Improvement Plan.

Capt. Isaac M. Mason has returned from Washington, D. C., where he went before the Rivers and Harbors Committee of the House to urge the feasibility of the plan proposed by Web M. Samuel and himself to with Mrs. Kleimer, and Kleimer, who hasn't learned much wisdom, became jealous. He decided to frighten his wife. Thursday morning, instead of going to work as a decent married man should, he upbraided his wife and then sat down in a dark corner and sulked. Finally he went out to a drug store, and on his return showed his wife a bottle and told her he was going to kill himself. As he had twice before made bluffs of this kind Mrs. Kleimer wasn't much startled.

"Tve but to touch my tongue to this poison and I'll fall a corpse at your perfidious feet," exclaimed the jealous husband. Then he pulled the cork out and raised the bottle to his lips. He didn't take much of the stuff and he didn't drop dead. He simply began to yell. Throwing himself oh the floor, he began to writhe, as if in great agony. A doctor was sent for. The medical man found that the bottle contained carboilc acid and telephoned for an ambulance. The fellow was taken to the hospital where it was found he had been only shamming. When he returns home his honest wife will have something serious to tell him. proposed by Web M. Samuel and himself to deepen the Mississippi River channel. They asked for a contract with the Government to deepen the channel on the no cure no pay plan, but as the scheme was opposed on the ground that it was for a private company they now ask for a contract open to public competition.

It is claimed by the friends of the scheme that the members of the Missisippi River Commission acknowledge that they are unable to afford river men any immediate relief. The Commission has expended $8,000,000, which, it is claimed, has accomplished no practical results.

Capt. Mason and his friends urge that the matter be agitated at once because Congress is inclined to cut off all appropriations this session. As the bill calls for no money unless results are acomplished, they are confident that something can be done. They declare that the trade will seek other markets unless the channel of the river is deepned.

Several operations were performed but the cancer always returned. This continued for years until the partition in his nose and his entire upper lip were eaten CINCINNATI, O., Feb. 27.-In anticipa tion of the arraignment to-day of Scot ackson and Alonzo Walling for the murde of Pearl Bryan, large crowds gathered about the City Hall and the jail this morn-

The officers decided to secretly take the prisoners to the Common Pleas Court before Judge Bookwalter and complete the arrangements for their transfer to Sheriff Plummer of Newport, Ky.

It was evident that the prisoners could not be quietly transferred across the river to-day, and all plans were abandoned.

At il o'clock it was announced that the arraignment and hearing on the requisition papers had been continued to a date that court would not divulge now or hereafter to any one. Counsel for both sides, as well as the court and the officers, are anxious to avoid the crowds.

There were people also around both the Newport and the Covington jails waiting to see the prisafters who have become notorious on account of the peculiarly brutal character of the murder charged against them.

whose name has been disagreeably connected by Dr. Brown with that of Mrs. Stockton, jumped to the platform and in threatening words and actions denounced the pastor. The excited visitor was induced to retire, and when quiet was restored Dr. Brown was ordered to make specific charges. He did so, and the council not only declined to investigate them, but adopted a unanimous vote of confidence in the moderator.

While the excitement was at its height Mrs. Brown attempted to persuade her husband to cease his attack, but he turned quickly and replied: "I may as well make it now. I am gone anyway."

The excitement of the evening came as a climax to the sensational testimony given against the Rev. Dr. Brown by Mrs. Thurston, whose testimony was corroborative of many of the alleged facts in the Overman interview. Most of the information which Mrs. Thurston gave to the council she had received from Mattle Overman and Mrs. Tunnell. It involved nearly all of the leading points advanced by Mrs. Mary A. Davidson.

received its involved nearly all of the leading points advanced by Mrs. Mary A. Davidson.

Dr. Brown precipitated the scene by asking as his first question in cross-examination if Mrs. Thurston ever had reason to be jealous of her husband. The woman's face flushed in anger and the moderator declared that the question was unfair. This began the quarrel.

Mrs. M. A. Davidson, acting under the advice of her attorney, declined to appear as a witness. Her testimony, which had been given in the police court, was read. According to this testimony, after Nov. 22, when Dr. Brown paid her $500, the pastor visited her Bible class and commended her as a teacher. The statement related that Dr. Brown said to Mrs. Davidson:

"I have an unlawful love for Mattie Overman, and I appeal to you to help me."

Dr. Brown said his last criminal intercourse with Mattle Overman was in a lodg-ing-house at Bryant and Sixth street. He had admitted he had been guilty before, but not since 'hat time. The witness (Mrs. Davidson) lectured Brown on his faults, and the minister then told the story of his entire career, in which he confessed that Dr. Brown said he aid not want to meet any other woman, and asked witness to arrange the difficulty for him. Witness agreed to settle with Mrs. Baddin, who was cognizant of his lialson with Miss Overman, but Dr. Brown said he aid not want to meet any other woman, and asked witness to arrange the difficulty for him. Witness agreed to settle with Mrs. Baddin for the minister, and took the money as his agent.

Dr. Brown then read the cross examination in the Police Court, when Mrs. Davidson developed extraordinary defective memory. She did not remember whether she had ever borne a child, had ever been arrested or had ever assumed other names than Davidson, Dr. Brown read Mrs. Davidson, denials that she had ever been arrested or had ever assumed other names than Davidson, Dr. Brown read Mrs. Davidson's denials that she had ever been in jail, according to her recollection, and said he

"T'se been hoodooed, jedge," explained John Williams, colored, in the First District Police Court Thursday. He had been arrested Wednesday at Second and Commercial streets by Officer Murphy on suspicion of having stolen a sack containing dried apples which he was carrying. A case of larceny could not be made against Williams and so he was sent to the Police Court charged with idling. "Now jedge, it was dis away. Ah had a sack uh coal, an' was goin' home. Yes, sah, I was. An' when Officah Murphy seen me he just lowed he'd hoodoo dat coal an' shoh nuff, jedge, he did. He tuhned it into dried apples, an' den when he seen what he done he 'rested me."

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Manifestations of the much talked of revolution in the Salvation Army took a more definite form yesterday. Maj. Peter Glen, the oldest officer in point of service in the headquarters staff, who for several years has had charge of the field department, resigned.

Maj. Glen left the building immediately and want to his home. To a reporter of the Post-Dispatch he said: "I spent yesterday evening with Hallington Booth, remaining with him until mearly midnight. When I came home my wife and I for many sleepless hours discussed the situation. We decided that our only course was to tender our resignations. Feeling as we do we can no longer remain in the army. Ballington Booth was in no way responsible for our action. He did not even know that we contemplated it. We have no plans for the future." templates the followed of the followed of the followed of several minor officers and many in the ranks in this city. Ballington Booth is signing checks for current expenses and all of the checks by Staff Captain Crafts, the Financial Secretary, are being deposited to Ballington Booth's personal account, under which all army money is held.

Mr. and Mrs. Bailington Booth are still at Montclair, N. J., where they intend to remain for several weeks to rest.

Mr. Booth has received letters from pastors of churches in New York, Brooklyn, Philadelphia and Boston asking him to conduct a series of meetings. A Chinaman Prevented From Prose cuting an Alleged Criminal.

WASHINGTON, Feb. Z.-A case which WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—A case which presents a somewhat complicated state of facts has been referred to the Treasury Department for determination. The record shows that several years ago a Chinaman named Chung Ling Fat came to this country and opened a laundry in Boston. He was successful and frugal and in time accumulated approximately lib.600. Joe Tye, another Chinaman and a merchant, it is alleged, stole lib.600 of his countryman's money and sailed to China. Fat followed him, but before he could be apprehended Tye returned to the United States and was arrested. The question brought to the attention of the Treasury Department is whether being a laborer, Fat, under the exclusion laws, can return to this country and give restimenty against Tye without which, it is said, he cannot be convicted of the larceny. was begun with an overture by Saenger's Orchestra, and then the big curtain went up on a pretty scene that looked like Robinson Crusoe's home on the island.

A minute later the desert isle seemed tranformed to fairyland, as twelve young ladies and gentiemen, dressed as residents of Bonnie Scotland, appeared on the stage and gave the national dance of that country.

son, Lottle Mackey, Florence Grierson, Martha Davis, A. L. Matthews and Jennie Lewis, and Messrs. Will H. Heine, J. R. Schultz, J. C. Punch, Arthur Devoy, Sam Broadbent, E. M. Lesile and C. L. Knower took part. This was followed by Raymond Naughton and Melville Bergfeld in the "Mule Fling," after which came Lottle Leeson as "La Belle," Lulu Boyd in "Dinah's Frolic," Eloise Bernd, representing "Cupid," and the dance of Germany performed by the following children: Irma Blebinger, Rachel Gross, Alice Hewitt, Lottle Leeson, Lillian Leppert, Ruth Mitchell, Gay Mollvaine, Jessie Peer, and Melville Bergfeld, James Campbell, Robert Crane, Oliwer Kupferle, Edward Morse, Walter Nasse, Raymond Naughton and Ira Perry.

Estelle Buehle: came next with a Turkish dance, and the always new skirt dance was admirably performed by Minnie Busch.

The dance of America came next and the dancers, dressed in fitting costumes, won sreat applause. Those who took part were: Misses Cora Winter, Norvill Caskie, Ada Cherot, Laura Austin, Lydia Gherot, Alice Lean, Marguerite Wright, Belle Mackey, Martha Mackey, and Messrs, J. A. Garcia, C. W. Pomeroy, L. G. Sartor, Wm. M.

EMMA AND JENNIE LEWIS The evening was warm and the young gentlemen in the dance wore just as little clothing as possible. This was the cause of a little excitement when the plaid skirt of one of the McGregors became unfastened and dropped to the floor. The owner hastily gathered up the garment and retired as gracefully as possible from the stage.

Among the young ladles who represented the Soctoh lassies was Miss Florence Grierson, a pretty West End givl, with aspirations to shine in the theatrical world. 'Miss Grierson took part in Frohman's 'Masqueraders' at the Olympic this season.

queraders" at the Olympic this season.

The rope dance, performed by Little Gay McIlvaine, came next and then Ruh Mitchell, who looked no larger than a china doll, danced the bat dance in a manner that won great applause.

The umbrella dance, from "Charley's Aunt," with Oliver Kupferle behind the huge umbrella, was very funny and the boy imitated the professional dancers perfectly. Lulu Boyd, who looked and was dressed like the fairy queen in the "Black Crook." or some other big spectacular play, was down on the programme as Adonis, and her dancing brought a big bunch of roses as well as the approval of the audience.

After Lulu Boyd came Jessie Peet as "The hylph." Alice Hewitt in the mandolinata iance, Rachel Gross in a Spanish dance and the first part concluded with the dance of spain by the following young ladies and entismen: Novice danson, Madge McDancold, Carrie Brown, Hasel Davis, Thereamith, Emma Lewis, Dairy Kinear, Frank made between the followers of Gov. Stone and ex-Gov. Francis.

Cooper, Reuben Weaver, Gus Biston, C. R. Crouch, E. J. Garcia, Clarence Walker, Joseph Markham, C. R. Voorhees.
The entertainment ended with the dance of Liberty by Lillian Leppert.

J. C. Roberts was put forward as the Stone candidate and Tom Barrest bore the Francis standard. Mr. Roberts was practically unknown to the mass of voters, while Mr. Barrett had been conspicuous in the party councils and in public office for years. Mr. Roberts won easily, and thus emphasized the unpopularity of Francis which was first revealed when he lost the district as the Democratic nominee for Governor. Besides such proofs as these of the weakness of the ex-Governor in his home district and of the likelihood of his Josing it this year as he has always done, is the further fact that there also live in the such able and resourceful anti-Francis men as ex-Mayor Noonan, Lieut-Gov. O'Meata and City Chairman Brady, besides a host of ward leaders, who have always fought the ex-Governor bitterly and unrelentingly.

Only a small portion of the Tenth Dis-

Governor bitterly and unrelentingly.

Only a small portion of the Tenth District lies in the city, and the Democratic vote in that portion is so small as to cut no figure in a general contest. The bulk of the Democratic voters of the district live in Franklin and St. Louis Counties, and their leaders are, almost without exception, uncompromising free silverities of the J. Wesley Booth stamp.

But the most discouraging feature of the campaign in St. Louis from the view point of the gold bugs is the registration.

Under the new election law the registration which will be used in the forthcoming primaries was closed on the 23d of last Au-tion which will be used in the forthcoming primaries was closed on the 23d of last August. Anybody who knows anything at all about city politics is aware of the fact that the element from which the gold men rely on recruiting their strength is that which is careless and negligent in the matter of registration. Or, to be plain, their following is practically shut out from participation in the forthcoming primaries for the election of delegates to the Sedaila Convention, because they are not registered.

There can be no repetition of the usual tactics of the Francis lleutenants in registering an army of men to do their bidding at the polis for the good and sufficient reason that the registration books are closed until the time for reopening them for the general election.

How, therefore, the gold bugs can ex-the poils for the good and sufficient reason that the registration books are closed until the time for reopening them for the general election.

How, therefore, the gold bugs can extract the least bit of comfort from the situation in St. Louis is beyond the understanding of those who have given it close and careful consideration.

The best information obtainable upon the subject indicates that the Francis call for a gold bug demionstration in St. Louis on Saturday was the result of a single secret caucus held in the ex-Governor's office in the Laclede Building during the early part of February.

There appears to have been no series of caucuses, as seems to be the popular impression concerning the matter, though, of course, there has been a great deal of quiet work done through the mails.

This statement is based on what one of the gantleman who attended the only conference that was held told a Post-Dispatch reporter Thursday morning. According to reporter Thursday morning. According to reporter Thursday morning. According to response the santleman, no caucus of gold standard Democrats has been held in St. Louis or elsewhere in the State since, unless the casual meeting of two or three leaders can be accounted as such. He stated further that no one was more surprised than he when he saw the Francis circular in the Sunday papers, as it had been his understanding all along that no authorized publication of the Administration programme in Missourl was to be made before March I. He supposes that action was hastened in St. Louis by the leakage of somebody's mouth at Washington.

He also says that to the best of his recollection the only persons who attended the gold-bug caucus at ex-Gov. Francis' office were these: Ex-Judge E. H. Norton of Platte County, ex-Congressman Alex Graves of Lafayette, W. O. L. Jewett of Shelby, J. A. Hudson of Macon, George Robertson of Audrain, John H. Garth of Marion, James H. Waugh of JBoone, Representative Buckner of Pike, ex-Senator J. M. Proctor of Boone, L. F. Wood of Montineau, W. P was not there, but was read by Gov. of regret from him was read by Gov. Francis."

The gentleman further remarked that his study of the list revealed to him a probable significance in the fact that South and Southeast Missouri were not represented in the movement, and as these were the heavy Democratic sections, he felt consid-

Very often Nature needs only a little help to get over an obstruction. When a boom of logs is floating down a river, all goes well until one single log strikes something and sticks. Then there's a "jam"—and trouble. It is just so in the progress of food through the digestive organs. Everything goes well till something sticks. Then the process of digestion stops. That's indigestion. Unless the impediment is removed, poisonous putrid matter begins to accumulate. There's a "jam"—constipation, and trouble. Sick headache, biliousness, aleeplessness, vertigo, heartburn, loss of appetite—these are some of the symptoms. Just a little help at the appearance of the first one would end the thouble. Nature is a hard worker, but ahe needs assistance if too much be put upon her.

Dr. Pierce's Plessant Pellets offer the best and simplest method for furnishing this assistance. They are prompt and very effective in their action, but they are not strong not severe. They cause no violent wrench of the system. They go right to the "log" that is fast and loosen it. Nature does the rest. By and by, with a little care in dieting, Nature will do it all. That's one great advantage of the "Pleasant Pellets" over the many strongly cathartic pills—you do not become a slave to their use. They really care the trouble they are meant to cure. Even the worst kind of chronic constipation disappears with their use.

CAUTION.—some designing dealers do not permit their customers to have Dr. Pierce's Fellets because inferior pills afford greater profits. Such dealers are abort signted. They corefiois the fact that next time you will so where you are as applied with what you ask far.

LIMITING THE BAGGAGE.

Railroads Will Not Accept a Piece Weighing More Than 250 Pounds.

CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 27.—At a meeting of the Western Association of General Baggage Agents held here a resolution was unanimously adopted providing that no single piece of baggage exceeding forty cubic feet in measurement or 250 pounds in weight will hereafter be accepted for transportation in baggage cars.

This is a very radical action, and if strictly adhered to by the railroads will revolutionise the baggage regulations of the transportation companies. Heretofore there has never been any limit to the weight or size of a piece of baggage, an excess charge being the only penalty for a piece weighing more than 150 pounds. It is not known whether the resolution is intended to cover theatrical scenery.

nave been thorougny worked in, and the critics in other cities are eulogistic over the perfect ensemble and complete manner in which every opera is being presented. The entire opera company, comprising ils people, will be brought here and the operas are promised in as perfect a manner of presentation as marked the productions in Philadelphia.

The celebrated donnas of the company are, first of all, Emma Nevada, the American girl, who has not been heard here in twelve years. Minnie Tracey is the American girl who created the leading part in Reyer's opera of "Sigurd" at the Paris Grand Opera, and Amelic Lorentz the lyric soprano who comes from the Grand Opera, Paris, and has practically been loaned to Hinrichs for this American tour. Henri Prevost, the tenor, is said to be a wonder and the other artists—Majzac, basso; Lorrain, basso; de Backer, baritone, and Katherine Fleming, the great American contralto—are equal to any artists we have ever had here. The operas will be sung in Italian.

Kellar, the wonder-worker, will mystify people at the Grand next week. He has plenty of novelvies, One is an Indian sensation, "The Mystic Light of Baia." Others are "The Shrine of Koomra Sami," "The Mystery of L'Hasse," and "The Queen of Roses."

Kellar does not believe in only mystifying his audiences, he likes to put their thinkworks working, and to that end his illusions are worked without the aid of a screen. Every him is a sudience, and to that end his illusions are worked without the aid of a screen. Every him is a sudience, and to that end his illusions are worked without the aid of a screen. Every him is a sudience of the second of the audience. Reliar will be assisted by his beautiful wife.

Panny Davenpors will be seen at the Olympic Theater, commencing Tuesday, March 2, presenting Sardou's latest auccess, "Gismonda." This is a strong, brutal, vigorous and telling play, Much has been inferred, before its p oduction here, from the accounts of its per ormances elsewhere. Fanny Davenport has celebrated the completion of a quarter century by a portrayal of the superstitious, domineering, impassioned, vengeful Duchess of Athens, that has startled and fascinated her public. Miss Davenport has many qualities and gifts that help her to realize in a forceful and conscientious way, an ideal that is serviceable and secognizable of a woman too religious to break a certain vow, too proud to keep R, adroit enough to compel the man who therefore has her in his power to release her, and too passionate, when, to accept the freedom she has so cleverly secured. She has a fine presence, hereditary distinction of bearing, an ample well-trained voice, and a good understanding of stage technique. Tuesday will be Davenport souvenir night. Seats now on sale.

Miss Davenport's production of "Gismonda" will be a marvel of stage craft and so heavy are the mountings that the stage can not be set in time for the opening Monday night. The first performance will therefore take place Tuesday evening.

Chas. E. Blaney's "A Baggage Check" will be the attraction at Havlin's the coming week, commencing with a matthee Sunday. Chas. E. Blaney has written a number of funny plays methoding "A Railroad Ticket." "A Run on the Bank." etc., but "A Baggage Check." his latest, is said to contain more uproarlous comedy than any of his former plays. The play is a sattre on a steam laundry, where a number of pretty girls are employed. A funny tramp, a foolish dude, a jolly old man, a mischlevous boy and a Bowery girl, etc., are leading characters in the piece. It is said to contain the strongest cast ever seen in any of his successes.

James T. Kelly, the little comedian, who for the last two seasons has been the feature of "A Railroad Ticket," is the leading comedian.

The sale of seats for the Ellen Beach Yaw concert at Music Haft next Tuesday opened to day. The prospecta are that Miss Yaw will meet here, as in other crites, an enthusiastic reception.

Miss Yaw was born in Buffalo, N. Y., but most of her childbood was plassed in California. She was noted for her voice before her tweitth year. Her musical education was obtained from Mme. MISSING HEAD OF A FAMILY Henry Krumpelmann Gone, Leaving Wife and Children in Distress. Where is Henry G. Krumpelmann of 142 Mallinekrodt street? His sick wife and four children, the oldest of whom is blind, have been asking the question without avail since Feb. 15.

Krumpelmann, who is about 37 years of age, was employed as a sawyer at the Knapp, Stout & Co. Company. On the day on which he disappeared he had no work and about 3 o'clock in the afternoon he dressed himself in his Sunday suit and bldding his children and wife good-bye in his usual manner, went out for a walk. Since that time nothing has been heard of him.

At the time of the disappearance Krumpelmann's wife had been sick with a complication of troubles for about six weeks. The four children, the eldest a blind boy of 13, and the youngest a baby of 3, had been cared for in the absence of their father at work, by neighbors. Since the disappearance of Krumpelmann they have done all in their power to relieve the sick and distressed woman of their care.

Mrs. Krumpelmann could not explain the continued absence of her husband in any way. "His habits were steady, and he was in good spirits when he left here. I fear that he has met with foul play."

Krumpelmann was well dressed when he left home. He work a new brown overcoat.

Krumpelmann was well dressed when het home. He wors a new brown overcoat triped gray pants, laced shoes, a blackerby hat and a sliver watch. He was leet, 10 inches tall, and had light hair and a derby nat and feet, 10 inches tail, and had light hair and a light brown mustache. An accident insurance policy on his life for $2.00 expired few days before he disappeared and his family is without money except what remains of the salary for his last week's work, which his wife collected after he disappeared.

OPENING FOR SLEUTHS.

now at the City Hospital, is true, Uncle Sam's brilliant sleuths may secure a val-Sam's brilliant sleuths may secure a valuable tip in locating an illicit still.

On the surface no reason is apparent for doubting Clarence's statements; he tells his story in a very straightforward and unaffected manner.

Clarence Wilson is the little lost boy, picked up by the police at the Union Station, Monday.

He was limping around and was sent to the City Hospital. Clarence has a deformed foot.

After he was sent to the hospital, some bright young man on a morning paper wrote a dream about how he escaped from that institution.

But there was no escape. Clarence never left the premises and the chances are he won't until Dr. Otto Sutter can secure him transportation to his home in Jackson sile.

The boy is a quiet, well-behaved little fellow, who doesn't look to be over 12 years old, although he claims to be 16.

This is the story, as he tells it:

"As near as I can remember, it was Feb. 8 when I left my home, at Jacksonville, Fla. in company with my father. We went to never came. At night I slept on one of the benches.

"The next day I told a policeman I had lost my father and he sent me here.
"I know these men very, well. They used to live at Clinton, Mo., where we did, and about three years ago I accompanied my father on a visit to them is Fort Smith.
"My father was born in St. Louis, but moved to Clinton, Mo. Belt and Hurdell lived there also and often called at our house. We left about six years ago, going to Jacksonville. Fla. About the same time, Belt and Burdell moved to Fort Smith, Ark.

"We live on an orange farm, two miles."

For two years Herman Hill, a Germa teamster, employed by the American Pressed Brick Works, has lived with Ma-thilda Griffin, a repulsive colored woman, in the rear of 352 Manchester avenue. Most of the time they have quarreled and fought City Hospital, as a result of one of their fights.

In spite of all this Hill has decided to wed his dusky companion. Wednesday he accompanied her to Believille in quest of a marriage license. Hill was attired in his Sunday best and the woman was glorious in vivid colors. County Clerk Thomas refused to issue the license and they returned to their common abode, crestfallen.

Hill and the Griffin woman were reared in the neighborhood known as Rock Springs, out on the Old Manchester road, and, according to the woman's story, were playmates in childhood. The woman finally married a colored man named Ed Griffin. Four years ago Griffin was sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary for the murder of another colored man, known as Richard Robinson.

other colored man, known as Richard Robinson.

Last summer Hill and the woman had a more than usually desperate quarrel, and Hill's right arm was almost severed with a carving knife by the woman. He was removed to the City Hospital and for a time it was thought he would die. When he had recovered Judge Peabody, in the First District Police Court, sentenced him to six months in the Work-house.

The Griffin woman did not know Thursday morning what course would be pursued in further attempts to secure a marriage license. Asked if she had secured a divorce from Griffin, she replied:

"I never got a divorce from him, but he's in the penitentiary and that is just the same as a divorce."

DENOUNCED A WITNESS.

A Feature of a Damage Case Against a Street Railroad.

way companies, which were so rife among members of the bar a few years ago, were members of the bar a few years ago, were partially revived Wednesday afternoon by an incident during the trial of the case of Fannie Riska vs. the Union Depot Railway Co. in Judge Klein's court.

On Oct. 21, 1892, Mathias Riska was run lown and killed at Ninth and Carroll streets by a street car. His widow used the allroad company for damages. The case has been tried four times. The first two rails resulted in huns juries, and the third in a verduct for the plaintiff. The railroad company succeeded in getting a new trial, which has consumed the past two days in Judge Klein's court.

Tuesday afternoon the defense called Joseph Casey to the stand. As he took his seat, Amos Taylor, who was representing the plaintiff, and who has had considerable experience in Europe 2015.

MARRIAGE LICENSE REPUSED.

Herman Hill Wanted to Wed His Negro Inamorsta.

For two years Herman Hill, a German Portal played of the Union Depot Railroad. When the case was first tried Judge Finkelshurg was the railroad's attorney, but he did not call Casey to the stand. Soon after Judge Finkelshurg resigned as a ttorney for the rad and it was generally rumored at the time that he did so on account of the methods employed by the railroad company and the railroad for the plaintiff and afterward appeared as a witness for the company. He threatens to have Casey arrested for perjury.

ORGANIZED DEMOCRACY.

Officers Elected and Committees Appointed for Precinct Work.

A rousing meeting of the St. Louis Democracy was held last night in the hall of the Jefferson Club. Of the 303 members of the Central Association elected at the of the Central Association elected at the precinct mass-meetings on the evening of Feb. 18, 233 responded to the roll call.

Only one contest was announced. That was from precinct less, Twenty-sixth Ward, in which two sets of representatives were elected. After a thorough investigation the Credentials Committee reported in favor of Michael J. Kenefick and W. F. Goldstein over J. McAuliffe and Charles Fete.

Immediately after calling the assemblage to order Lient.-Gov. John B. O'Mears, Chairman of the Arrangements Committee, announced that the session would be executive and the heli was then cleared overselve.

labor to the preliminary work of organisation, be elected parmanent secretary. The report was unanimously adopted after it had been so amended as to make A. C. Maroney Assistant Secretary.

Lieut-Gov. O'Meara then made an enthusiastic speech, predicting the most brilliant achievement for the movement and asking to be relieved of further official duty. Judge F. M. Estewars elected temporary chairman, and on assuming the chair delivered an address that aroused additional enthusiasm.

The preliminaries having been thus disposed without a hitch, the chairman was directed to appoint three committees to look after the permanent organisation of the Central As ociation. Judge Estes appointed these committees:

DUNBAVEN RESIGNS.

Longer an Honorary Member of the New York Yacht Club.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Lord Dunraven's letter to Secretary Oddie of the New York Yacht Club, resigning his honorary membership in that organization, is made public today. The letter, which is dated Feb. By states that this course is taken in view of the motiva made by Capt. Ledyard at the recent precing of the club, that Lord Dunraven be expelled because of the allegations he had nade against members, but which he had not substantiated. In another letter dated Feb. 12, and addressed to the Hom. E. J. Phelps, which is published in connection with the letter to Mr. Oddie, Lord Dunraven explained that he was satisfied with the conclusions of the committee which had investigated his charges about the management of the yacht Defender, and that he had also written a personal letter to Mr. Iselin disayowing any intention to reflect upon him in any way. ## SPRECKELS UNAFRAID.

He Sails for Honolulu to Face Dole and His Cabinet.

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—A special dispatch from San Francisco, Cal., says: Rudolph Spreckles, youngest son of Claus Spreck-les, sugar king, has sailed for Honolulu on spreckies, youngest son of Caus Spreckles, sugar king, has sailed for Honolulu on the steamer City of Peking. His mission, it is said, is to face President Dole and his Cabinet, by whom he is charged with treason against the Hawaiian Government.

The charge of treason was preferred against Spreckies by Dole after the Hawaiian uprising a year ago. He was accused of supplying the revolutionists with arms and funds, and in one instance giving the exQueen $10,000 to aid in carrying out her plans to overthrow the Republican Government and place her niece, Princess Kaiulani, on the throne.
Soon after these charges were made a report reached Honolulu that Rudolph Spreckies was en route to the capital on a Pacific line steamship. When the vessel arrived at Honolulu a detail of soldiers went on aboard and searched for the young millionaire, but failed to find him. He had arranged to make the trip, but altered his intentions on the day the steamer sailed.
With such a serious charge hanging over his head it was believed Spreckies would not return to Hawaiian soli, and his unexpected departure caused consternation among his friends. Spreckles will undoubtedly be arrested upon the arrival of the City of Peking.

WHOLESALE BODY SNATCHING

Charge That Seattle Cemeteries Are Systematically Rifled.

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 27.—A local official of the Pacific Steamship Company makes in statement that bodies of human beings re statement that bodies of human beings are being systematically snatched from the cemeteries of this city and sent as surgery subjects and for scientific purposes to medical colleges in San Francisco. At least two corpses, he asserts, were shipped to the Facific Coast metropolis via the steamer Walla Walls on her last trip. They were inclosed in rough wooden boxes and labeled merchandise. The official de-lined to go into details, but intimated that his grave bobery enterprise had been arried on or months. The authorities are vestis some the matter.

The races will begin at Peorla June 25, 25 and 27, when the L. A. W. tournament and the national circuit meets are held there.

The League of American Wheelmen will probably be incorporated in the State of Maryland. The Legislature of that State is favorably inclined towards the great wheel organization, and a liberal charter will be easy to get. As an indication of the popularity of the blcycle in Maryland, it may be stated that a bill now before the Legislature providing for the punishment of persons throwing substances in the roads which might puncture tires, has a great chance of soon becoming a State law. With the State authorities looking out for their interests so vigilantly Maryland riders are to be congratulated.

CASEY AND DUNNE.

Carney and Keegan Think They Can Defeat Them in the Finals.

Phil Casey, the ex-trainer of John L. Sullivan and champion hand ball player, who, with his partner, ex-Alderman Dunne, were considered the fastest hand ball team in America, seem to have run up against a pair who will put them to their best speed to win out, in Louis Keegan and William Carney, two Chicago experts. The Chicago couple have just returned from Brooklyn, where the first six games of their match with the champions were played. The result of the first round was an even break, each side winning three games. The veteran Casey, in speaking of the playing of the Chicago men says that they are the fastest pair that he has ever seen. Praise from Casey is praise indeed, as he is the recognized hand ball authority of America. The Windy City players are much elated over the showing they made against the Eastern cracks and are jubilant over their chance of winning; a majority of the games yet remaining to be played. They say that the confidence of the Eastern sports has become considerably shaken in the final outcome of the match, and the betting odds have fallen off several points.

Reports of the game say that such fast hand ball was never before witnessed in Brooklyn. The champion was compelled to quit with the first pair of sore hands that he has had in twenty years of hard games. If the Chicago men win the finals in the match at Chicago March 15 they will be in line to meet the famous Irish team which will be in this country soon prepared to meet the best men that can be found to go against them.

J. M. the city of Canton, Stark C O.: I had an attack of the a four years ago this spring th me in a bad way. My nerv system was broken down an digestive apparatus in a co that made me miserable for days. While able to work at my tra shearman in a rolling mill, I suffered more or less all the time with my mach. Bitters and tonic; literally taken by the gallon every variety of pills and potions that promised relief. I derived some benefit from the use of some of them if I continued taking them, but If I quit a few days my old tr would return. Noticing the advertisement of the Ripans Tabules, for impaired and bad digestion, I concluded to invest in a few of them, which I am pleased to inform you have proven all or more than I expected of them. While I have taken but a few of them, they have done me more good than all the other remedies that I have trie the other remedies that I have tried. They relieve the belching and sour stomach almost at once, and I feel better in every way since I commenced taking them. The distressing beadaches, which I always had preceding a fit of indigestion, have entirely left me. I will be glad to recommend the Tabales to anyway suffering from
